

INDIAN SOCIETY OF GEOMATICS

National Geomatics Award : Applications

CITATION

Dr. Anjana Vyas is Professor & Acting Dean, Faculty of Technology at CEPT University, Ahmedabad, India and has Masters in Urban and Regional Planning, CEPT University and Post Graduate Diploma in Human Settlements from Indian Institute of Remote Sensing, Dehradun. She started her career as Research Associate at IIM-Ahmedabad and later joined as lecturer at School of Planning, CEPT. She has 32 years of experience in teaching including 23 years in the field of Geomatics and has guided more than 160 M Tech dissertations and is currently guiding Doctoral Students in the fields of Planning and Geomatics.

She has carried out a number of research projects funded by various Departments of Government of India including ISRO and Government of Gujarat, besides other funding agencies in the field of applications of geomatics in urban planning, e-governance, infrastructure development, environmental monitoring and disaster management. She has made significant contributions towards development of Faculty of Geomatics and Space Applications at CEPT University. She established a full-fledged course of Remote Sensing & PG Programme in Geomatics for planning students at CEPT.

Dr. Anjana Vyas is a well known academician among fraternity of Geomatics professionals. She has been a very active geomatics academician associated with various related professional societies. She is Chairperson of ISPRS TC VI/ WG2; Vice Chairperson of Indian Society of Geomatics- Ahmedabad Chapter; Executive Committee Member of ITPI-GRC; Member, Education Standing Committee, ITPI; Member of Expert Committee on Earth and Atmospheric Sciences, Department of Science and Technology; Member of General Board of Tripura State Council of Science and Technology; Trustee of Institute of Solid Waste Management and is actively contributing activities of ISG, INCA, ISRS, IMSA and other Societies.

Dr. Anjana Vyas has travelled length and breadth of the globe, visiting 40 countries. She has presented 30 papers and chaired various Technical Sessions in Seminars and Workshops. She was invited to deliver lectures-cum-presentations in NRG4SD in Indonesia; United Nations/China Workshop on Human Space Technology in Beijing, United Nations/Malaysia Workshop on Human Space Technology in Putrajaya.

In recognition of her outstanding contribution in the field of applications of geomatics in urban planning, infrastructure development, environmental monitoring and disaster management, the Indian Society of Geomatics confers "National Geomatics Award -Applications" for the year 2014 on Dr. Anjana Vyas.

(N.S. Mehta)
Secretary, ISG

(A.S. Kiran Kumar)
President, ISG

December 09, 2014
Hyderabad